My darling

I dreamed I was looking at Queen's gardens ~~Carved~~ & I + made them a little present for you might go away and while preparing to go dreamland,

Am I not your queen and here I not a garden Truly it is so, and all the flowers are for you that grow in my garden are for you,

There's a rose in my garden, sweet,
It blooms with all other flowers
Tis the rose of my childhoods beautiful years
Those years that passed like hours.

There's a rose in my garden love
From the garden I led apart
For shy emblem it droops its head
Tis the rose of my maiden heart.

There's a rose in my garden, dear ~~With thorns and briers well hid.~~
Well hid neath thorns & briers
Tis the rose of all my woman hood Shining in life pure clearness.

There's a rose in my garden, No,
Tis a rose bud as yet only form
Can you not guess what the bud
In the bosom of the early morn, will be.

We wandered through friendship's
For many and many a day
And we plucked the flowers by
And rejoiced in it by the way

Day by day as we wandered on Most beautiful grew the
And ever anon they beguiled us
Through meadows and shady

Till one sweet morn when the Lay fresh on the fields and We wondered at the flow of The velvet touch of the

The song of bird, the kiss of All speaking of perfect
And then we knew the land of The island of the Heart.

We had wandered there
That the flowers had done it all
The closeness of time & beautiful
We had answered to their

And there in our Garden of Eden
We looked in each others eyes. and the language of that new flashed to us from the souls

The river gurgled its rapture with joy
The old sun beamed, ~~with joy~~
The bird notes rose higher & higher
We only felt & dreamed!

Then the great All father kissed us ~~And blessed us forever His.~~
And we plighted our troth before heaven
In one pure love-true kiss.
